

Boring Christmas present

This Christmas you have given an essential part of a new borehole water supply system for the Tikondane shelter for street children in Malawi!

Tikondane provides shelter, meals, counselling, and support to children who have been living on the streets. Currently, the project faces frequent water shortages, and the supply is insufficient for the large number of children and activities like cooking, washing, and cleaning.
With this Christmas present you are helping to ensure the shelter has it's own, free, clean, plentiful water supply from now on.

Actually, there's nothing boring about that, is there?
